

Dave's Blarg!

2011-Oct-29

Today was a lot of fun ☺ I went to my friends birthday party and worked on the car (still not working ☹) I saw the oddest thing while I was on campus, there Danielle and I were; walking across campus and minding our own business and a group of villagers started yelling at this poor fellow who was standing a freshly erected gibbet in the quad, and as a rejoinder to their cries of "Hang them" and "arrrr" (there may have been some pyrates in the crowd) he came through with todays quote of the day "What part of France is this?!"? I love Corvallis ☺

This is a picture that Danielle didn't send me :p

This is another picture that Danielle didn't send me :p Stay tuned tomorrow ;)

The car work went..... ok..... We found a leak at the water pump and (hopefully) patched it and... well... still have no other idea why it doesn't work ☹ We had fun working on it though, and that's half the point right :D Levi and Luke spent the afternoon preparing for the Zombiepocalypse. This is a pretty well rounded family :D

The leg bone's connectd to the.... Wait,

Maaaybe if we squich this part like it's a foam cup...

Danielle and I re-gasketing the water pump

Penny fell asleep waiting for the car to start....

Our sad car-won't-start faces

The Sitts Garage
Reloading Shop

A few at a time 😊

Also known as an anti-zombie press :D

Look Penny, Cake!

Apparently this necklace will also prevent arthritis...

Whatever you guys do, Don't tell Lady Sitts that I got a picture of her!!

Those candles are burned into my camera!!

The birthday party was great!!! Penny had a blast and Cheyenne got some 'Attractive' Jewelry ☺ (Buckyballs) Cheyenne's candles were do bright that we were all almost blinded! (Who would have thought that eighteen could be so old!) Everyone had a pretty good Ruckus :D

Until Tomorrow Guys!

(And thanks to everyone who is sending back the "what I'm up to" writebacks with everything about their day!! You guys are awesome!)